Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation Monday announced approval of a $762,122 40-year loan to the Ontario Ministry of the Environment to improve sewage treatment facilities in the Township of Dysart.

A loan will assist in the construction of trunk sewers, forcemains, a pumping station and sewage treatment plant.

National Housing Act sewage treatment loans may be made for up to two-thirds of estimated costs and for terms of up to 50 years.

Moose, bears are plentiful

The hunting season for 1974 is coming to a close. Up to press time the reports we have been receiving from various hunting camps seems to be the same old story that there doesn't seem to be very many deer in the area. Some hunting camps have reported fair luck while others are not to satisfied with their count.

There seems to be one thing for sure and that is that moose seem to be very plentiful in the area and some parties report having shot five and six and hunters tell us that there seems to be moose tracks all over the place.

Hunters seem to be seeing and shooting a large number of bear and we heard a report that a 500-pound bear was shot at the hunting camp of Roger Hunter at Redstone Lake.

Tribute paid to soldiers

On Monday November 11, tribute was paid to those of this area who took up arms in two world wars and gave their lives in the cause of freedom. A short service was held in the Auditorium of the Royal Canadian Legion at 10:00 a.m.

Following the service the members of the Legion formed ranks and led by the Haliburton Legion Pipes and drums marched down Highland Street to the Cenotaph for the service there. Also marching in the parade were the members of the Ladies Auxiliary, the boy scouts and cubs and the Girl Guides.

At the cenotaph various organizations placed wreaths to honour the fallen, and the traditional two minutes silence was observed, after which the parade wended its way back to the Legion Hall.

The turnout of veterans was larger than usual and more citizens than in previous years were on hand for the service.

Centennial Choir gives final concert

Haliburton County's Centennial year provided many opportunities for citizens from various parts of the county to work together on specific projects.

One such project was the Centennial Choir, sponsored by the Haliburton County Social Planning Council. Everyone who enjoyed singing was invited to participate and after an initial fluctuation of membership, it became a choir of thirty-five voices under the direction of Mr. William Gliddon.

An unusual feature of the choir is the age range of its members, the youngest being eleven years. The outstanding aim of a choir is musical harmony, but there must also be a harmony of fellowship between the choir members themselves. This has been achieved in the Centennial Choir, they obviously enjoy working together. At practices, between the actual singing, there is always laughter and a good time. When there is a disagreement, the issue is decided by a majority vote.

Now, as Centennial Year

Lumber industry major employer in Harcourt

The major employer of labour in the Harcourt area of the past was the lumbering industry, and the felling of trees is still a major source of income for many of the men in and around Harcourt. Of course there was some mining and one would be quite remiss if the tourist industry was not acknowledged. It is our intention to make some reference to these industries but first let's take a look at the village itself.

The village which bestrides Highway 648 is about four miles north-west of Wilberforce and about 10 to 15 miles from Tory Hill. The morning I left Lindsay (Sept. 9) the weather was lovely. As I left Fenelon Falls and proceeded along Highway 121 the sun disappeared the day became overcast so much so that at one time the thought occurred to me that it might rain.

The clouds obscured the sun to a point midway between Kinmount and Tory Hill along Highway 503 and by the time I reached Harcourt the sun was shining in full radiance. Unfortunately the sun did not stay out the entire day and the trip home was made under slightly dampish conditions.

Prior to making the trip I telephoned Murray Agnew at Wilberforce to find out who I should be talking to in Harcourt. "Let's see Bill, you should see Russell Schickler, his sister Ada Pacey. Other people to see would be Bill McLaren, Ron Mumford and Chester Schwandt" replied Mr. Agnew. Two of the people Ron Mumford and Bill McLaren I did not have the time to talk to and I did before leaving telephone them to express my apologies but time was moving and rain was threatening. But I did meet Murray Scott and the president of the G.W. Martin Lumber Ltd., Grenville Martin.

IN CONVERSATION

The Schicklers along with the Scotts, and the Mumfords are pioneer names in the area. In 1904 the Schickler family moved into Harcourt proper. "The house we moved into at that time has since been destroyed by fire" said Mrs Pacey.

According to Mr. Schickler, the mother and father built a grocery store in 1907, which was located about 75 to 100 yards north of his house. "Besides looking after the store, we sorted the mail and for a short time performed the duties of a railway station master" said Mrs. Pacey. A sister Mrs. Amos Hawley operated the store from 1942 until 1949 when the building was destroyed by fire. The Hawleys then built a store on the north-east side of the present highway, and which they operated until 1972 when the building was sold to Richard Burrows who operates a real estate office from the building while his wife Kay is the post-mistress. A small store called the Harcourt Variety Store is operated by Noreen Ireland.

Prior to 1907 the store and post office facilities were part of the lumber operations of the Davis Lumber Company, then the Jones Lumber Company and finally the Dukes Gordon Lumber Company.

NO MORE

Harcourt or Mumfords Station, as the railway location was known, enjoyed its fleeting moment in the history of the Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway. At one time the station house was located outside the municipality of Harcourt, in the latter years it was located in Harcourt proper where the Davis Lumber Company built the station house.

For many years Fred Agnew served the area as the travelling station master. When the railway was torn up in 1960 the travelling station master was a Mr. Sprung.

OTHER BUSINESSES

For about 15 years William Scott operated a grocery store which was located about 50 yards from the present Long real estate office which is presently managed by Murray Scott.

When Mr. Schickler sold the Elephant Lodge in 1960 and not wishing to be completely out of circulation, he founded a business which he called the E. R. Schickler Marine. About 5 years ago the business was sold to Allan Bell and within the last year or two the business was sold to Steve Langeraap who still operates the business under the name of the Bell Marine.

As was stated in the early part of this article I made a telephone call to Ron Mumford and Bill McLaren, this was done from the Sports Center and service station operated by Dale Smith.

After making the phone calls I engaged in a bit of conversation with Mr. Smith. "You should be up here in the winter time when on a blustery day several of the men gather in my store and do a little reminiscing", said Dale Smith.

Actually I did not have time to converse with Mr. Mumford but I did stop at his business location just long enough to enquire as to where Mr. Schickler lived. Ron and Iris Mumford who run the Country Service store, deal mainly in a general type of merchandise.

The Schwandt Lumber Company under the guidance of Chester Schwandt operate a home care center where building supplies are sold. It was in Mr. Schwandt's office that I got a few stories from Harcourt (Sonny) Pacey who has been in the employ of Mr. Schwandt since about 1962.

TOURISM

The Elephant Lake Lodge, which was built by Mr. Schickler in 1936 and sold by him in 1960, is presently owned by a Mr. Waterton. Another lodge on Elephant Lake, and referred to by Murray Scott is the Silver Springs Lodge owned by Dennis and Doris Waymouth. In 1939, on the site of the Silver Springs Lodge a Finlander by the name of Ernie Arponen erected a sauna bath" recalled Murray Scott.

Harcourt Park which can be reached by travelling the Elephant Lake Road is a private park encompassing 7,000 acres with 17 lakes and is dotted here and there with over 600 cottages.

SCHOOL DAYS

All those who went to school were little angels while those who are still attending school are sometimes referred to in terms less divine. Think over that statement for a moment while I recount a story told to me by Murray Scott. This incident took place in the days when school rooms were heated by small stoves which were sometimes potbellied in shape. In this case the wood stove had more the appearance of an oil drum.

Some of the youngsters in the old frame school which was used prior to the erection of the 1950 school, had the devilish habit of throwing ink bottles into the stove and then listening for the resulting explosion.

This story is one with a come-uppance twist. "Another lad and I had thrown an ink bottle into the heated stove and were literally sitting with bated breath waiting for the explosion. We waited, time went by and still no explosion. Finally no longer being able to stand the suspense I asked the teacher if I could put a stick of wood on the fire, she said, yes.

When I took off the lid of the stove I noticed that the bottle was over to one side so I pushed the bottle over closer to the fire. Before I could put the lid back on the bottle went off with a bang scaring me quite badly. The teacher naturally enquired as to what the noise was to which I replied, it must have been something that got into the stove. Apparently she never did find out what caused the noise" recalled Mr. Scott.

Harcourt Pacey recalled that the boys used to play a game called "playing deer". On this occasion we wandered so far away from the school that we never got back until school was out at 4 o'clock, said Mr. Pacey with a smile.

"The first school I attended was a shanty type building with a flat roof," recalled Mrs. Pacey. This building stood on the site now occupied by Sherwood Townsend. The second school building, which was a clapboard structure, stood on the site of the building now occupied by Bill McLaren. Prior to the utilization of this building, the school used the facilities of a room over the Davidson Lumber store.

When the clapboard school was destroyed by fire several months after its occupancy, the Harcourt pupils, along with the Cardiff pupils, attended the Beach Ridge school. Mr Schickler recalled that there was not always the best of feeling between the Harcourt and the Cardiff pupils. "Some of the pupils were subject to having rocks thrown at them," he said.

The building located just south of Mr. Schickler's home was erected as a school in 1915 and served that purpose until the early 1950's when the building housing the Robert Long offices was erected. The school was closed in 1970.

Some of the teachers as recalled by Mrs. Pacey, Mr. Schickler and Murray Scott were: Belle Graham, Miss Sanderson, Miss Plumpton, Miss Woodhouse, Mr. Tate, Miss Davis, Dossie LeCraw, Miss Laird, Roland Sedgwick, Charles Maxwell, Rita Finlay and Margaret Smith.

Before leaving the school portion of this article, I must relate another story as told by Harcourt Pacey. It seems that some of the pupils took advantage of the fact that the teacher came from the city and so they gave her what she thought was a turnip but instead was a wild turnip commonly known as Jack in the Pulpit. The root, which looks like a turnip, possesses a juice which is very biting. The teacher took a bite of what she thought was a turnip. "This was at noon hour and we had the rest of the day off," said Mr. Pacey with a grin.

CHURCH

When the school was closed in the early 1950's the building was converted (no pun intended) into a church for the use of the Anglican denomination. It remained this way until 1969 when the church was closed due to lack of members.

Approximately six years ago, a church known as the Community Chapel, was erected across the road from the last school building.

IN THE AREA

The president of the G.W. Martin Lumber Ltd., Grenville Martin, gave me a picture booklet which shows in pictorial form, the operations of his company. One of the sentences in the front of the book reads, "This book is a bird's-eye view on one of the largest and most modern hardwood mills in Ontario." From what I observed in my brief tour around the company grounds and for what they hope to accomplish in the future, the sentence in the booklet is quite accurate.

Before taking a brief look at the Martin operations, located 10 miles north-east of Harcourt, let us first take a brief look into the history of lumbering. One writer put it this way, "No phase of pioneer life was more picturesque or more typically Canadian than the lumber industry." Of course to the pioneer the forest was a hindrance to progress.

Thousands of beautiful and irreplaceable trees of butternut, walnut, bird's-eye maple and many other varieties common at the time were piled in huge heaps and burned; timber was something to be got rid of as quickly as possible.

Gradually the lumbering industry began to make its impact felt on the economic life of the country. In 1862 about 25,000 persons were directly engaged in lumbering in Canada.

The log drives were an essential and in some cases thrilling part of the operations especially when log jams occurred and some quick witted and courageous logger was required to get at the key log which when moved would release the pent up fury of the log jam.

One of the men who spent many years in the forest as a shanty clerk described how the logs were cut, the type of living quarters or shantys which were constructed and the meals that lumbermen could expect.

Concerning the food of the early days he wrote: "The cookery outfit of a caboose shanty, in the early days, consisted of half a dozen bake kettles for baking bread, and one for baking beans in ashes, which is done by covering the kettle with hot ashes. In addition to the half dozen kettles there are two large pots and a tea boiler; that with the butcher knife and a fork, completes the cooking utensils."

AND NOW

And now we have the efficient up to date methods of the present logging operations, in this particular case the G.W. Martin Lumber Ltd. In 1957 in the first year of operations with 12 men the company had 500,000 bd. ft. of production. By the end of 1973 with the employment of over 200 men they had 25 million bd. ft. of production along with 100,000 tons of chip production, the latter is shipped to the pulp and paper mills. "In order to maintain this production we utilize two daily shifts the year round" said Mr. Martin. When asked to put a value on his investment as I saw it, the president replied, "around 7 million dollars". At the present the rolling stock consists of 40 vehicles and 3 aircraft.

MINING

Mrs Pacey and Mrs Schickler recalled that the New York Graphite and the National Graphite Companies operated in the area around the years 1912, 1913 and 1915. At one time the graphite mining industry employed 125 men. The mining of uranium has been carried on in the Cardiff-Bancroft area.

Property owners protected in new law

Subsequent to the Falconbridge fiasco, in which a snowmobiler was awarded $30,000 in damages by the Supreme Court of Canada after garroting himself on a cable closing a road to an un-used mine shaft, while trespassing on private property, the government of Ontario has taken action to protect the land owners of the Province from similar suits. The precedent set by the Supreme Court Judges, in their wisdom, had left farmers and other owners wide open to damage suits and ceaseless litigation.

It is reported that the new Law will require that each snowmobiler using private lands must obtain written permission from the owner and must himself sign a waiver releasing the owner from all liability, and that such agreement shall be carried with him when on said lands.

Along with the announcement of this legislation the government has also announced its Provincial Trails Programme. But, so far as I can ascertain, few details are yet available beyond the fact that the programme will include trails for all purposes and for all seasons. Certain questions come to mind. We wonder, for instance, whether the programme will include trails previously established by snowmobile clubs and other groups, and whether some provision will be made under the new law for blanket coverage of club members in agreements with land owners respecting club trails.

We shall have to wait and see whether the Davis government has found a solution to this problem which has been ignored for too long or if it gets more fouled up.

PRESIDENT OF TWO YEARS STEPS DOWN

This writer after careful consideration, declined a third term as President of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association. I will continue as publicity director and will this year act as membership chairman.

The new President is Bob Jennings. Bob is proprietor of Sandy Lane Resort on Hall's Lake, is an ardent snowmobiler and enthusiastic worker for the HCSA. On the Board last year, he devoted much time and energy to clearing trails and operating the grooming equipment. The Association is in capable hands.

A long-time member, in his third term on the Board is Steve Berry, the new Vice-President. Steve has served at various times as Secretary and as Treasurer, and was initially responsible for getting the tri-trail project started. He is with Prentice Roads, Minden.

Kathleen Wyllie continues in the office of treasurer for her second term. Many of the signs you noticed along the trails last season were painted and put up by Kay. She also played a large part in making our dances successful.

The new HCSA Secretary is Wentworth Hogg of Wentworth's Marina at the Alsaw Bridge. Went begins his first year on the Board.

Other appointments were as follows:
Trails Committee: Dennis Casey, Chairman;

with Joe Blair, Steve Berry, Steve Langerap, Bob Jennings, and Roy Bates, representing regions. Social Functions: Kathleen Wyllie and Ken Fielding. Mapping Committee: Steve Berry and Dennis Casey. Constitution: Bob Jennings. Historian: Brian Hunter.

The two directors not appointed to any committee as yet will be worked in wherever they are best fitted. They could provide valuable liaison with the many city-dwelling members of the Association. They are Rick Perry of Scarborough, and Don Cumming of Willowdale.

Members please note: The HCSA mailing address is Box 151, Haliburton Ontario. Your 1975 renewal is now due.

Centennial Corner

HALIBURTON COUNTY CENTENNIAL CHOIR

The idea of forming a special choir for Haliburton County's Centennial Year originated with our County Social Planning Council. Late in 1973 one of its members, Mrs Joan Fennell, approached two people to assist in the operation of the proposed choir - Mr. Bill Gliddon who became musical director, and Mrs Lil Rawlins who became organizational director and "Choir Mother". Mr. Gliddon promptly wrote three songs especially for the choir to sing during Centennial Year - the first choir practice was called, and this was the beginning of something wonderful.

The purpose of the choir was basically to represent the County in a special musical way at Ontario Place and at various festive events throughout the County. This called for a lot of hard work in a short time, but the choir was ready to honour its engagements, supported on several occasions by instrumentalists from the Archie Stouffer Public School Band capably directed by Mr. Glen Carter. The Highland tartan ties and sashes which the choir members wear with such pride were made by Mrs. Rawlins.

The choir is unique because its 30 or so members are of all ages and from all parts of the county. There are few organizations where young people and older folk enjoy each other's company to such an extent in a common challenge.

In addition to a memorable performance at the Forum of Ontario Place, the Centennial Choir has sung at the Centennial Fly-In at Stanhope Airport, the unveiling of the Historic Plaque at St. Paul's Church, Minden; the Gay Nineties Night at Hyland Crest Home, Wilberforce Centennial celebrations, Minden Fair, and the Centennial Service of Thanksgiving at Haliburton.

The Centennial Choir will present a final concert at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School on November 21, the eve of St. Cecilia's Day (the patron saint of music). Their brief but colourful existence will come to an end with a purpose well fulfilled as a tribute to Haliburton County Centennial Year, but for the organizers and members of the choir, it will have been an exciting year of delightful memories, new friendships, and making music together.

COMING CENTENNIAL EVENTS:

Thursday, November 21, Centennial Choir Concert at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, 7:30 p.m.

Of all drivers involved in accidents a large percentage were violating a traffic regulation at the time of the accident, says the Ontario Safety League.

A few of these violations may be deliberate, defiant acts. Some probably result from thoughtlessness. And some mean that the driver simply didn't know the law.

Many well-intentioned drivers just don't take the time and trouble to know and understand traffic laws. But ignorance of the law is no excuse for an accident.

It is a short step from law breaker to life taker. And learning the traffic laws by accident is the hard way to do it.

Not enough blood

The results of the Blood Donor Clinic held at the Legion Hall in Haliburton recently were anything but gratifying. With blood so urgently needed it must be very discouraging to the sponsors when only 138 people attended the last clinic. Out of these, 13 people were rejected due to health reasons leaving a total of only 125.

Granted there are many people who would only be too glad to donate blood but due to health reasons they have to be rejected. But think of the hundreds in this county who are healthy and could donate but just sit home and won't bother to come out for this worthy cause.

The discouraging fact about this whole matter is that every year the clinic is held instead of attendance going up its going down. In 1970, 158 people attended and then in 1972 it was down to 128 and then in 1973 there were 137 and in 1974 just one more was added to make a total of 138. One would have to admit that this is a very poor showing.

Red Cross members told us this week that operations are being held up all over Ontario because there is a lack of this much needed blood. So why sit at home and wait for someone else to donate as you could be the next person who made need blood.

So come on all you healthy people wherever you are in this county and make it a point right now to get out and donate this much needed blood the next time that a clinic is held.

Tell electors plans

The Nomination papers have been filed and the candidates have been nominated for the various positions for Reeve, Deputy Reeve, councillors and School Trustees.

The candidates are now at the starting gate and will be out to solicit your vote for the forthcoming municipal election.

In the past in the days of the nomination meetings how many times have you heard a candidate get up and say that if elected he would work to the best of his ability for everyone in the municipality. This just isn't good enough.

The time has come when each and every candidate no matter what office they may be running for should stand up and state on the street or in the local press just what their platform may be. They should have a platform or they shouldn't be running.

People seeking office should come out and tell the electors just what they intend to do during their term of office because if they are just willing to sit back with no plans for the future and with a do nothing attitude they shouldn't be letting their name stand.

Letters to the editor

Dear Sir:

On page 4 of your October 31st edition of the Echo, I read with interest your editorial with the caption "We can't run advertising for free".

We, as a small storekeeper, are wondering what the difference is in giving a little free advertising once in a while, and giving away free merchandise? Every merchant on Main Street of our villages, and up and down our highways, no matter how small, is continually being asked for donations to dances, carnivals, regattas, parties etc. Every housewife is continually being asked to bake, rummage through her attic or closets or drawers for articles for white elephant tables, to donate her time free to help out at bazaars and teas. Lots of our working men are spending their evenings helping out with service club work among cripples and the poor.

When one lives in a community one is interested in doing what one can do on a volunteer basis. Community work is something everyone should be interested in, and while we understand that a newspaper must make its money from advertisements and the sale of its papers, we also feel it should make some contribution to the community.

Do the newspapers not get a lot of free community news? Do they supply postage, paper or gas to have it delivered to their door? Do they give a free subscription once in a while for that service which they in turn sell to the public for 15c a copy -- the same as a big city paper?

I have re-read your editorial and can see you are referring to certain types of requests, but we feel there is also a reference to some local requests from time to time and this is what I am saying -- there are times when certain requests should be met with the same courtesy as we storekeepers are expected to give of our substance.

Thanking you,

Yours truly,
Doreen Stinson

TRUTH OR NOT?

In the November 7 issue of the Progress, a statement was made the I 'KNEW' of the resignation of Mr. Parisotto in advance.

The FACTS are as follows,

Mr Parisotto visited me on or about October 24 and AFTER obtaining my 'solemn word' that I would not mention the purpose of his visit to ANYONE, he showed copies of two applications for a position in other areas. No doubt this was because my name appeared on each as a reference.

Mr Parisotto stated that he did not expect to take either position but just wanted to see what other areas had to offer. He further stated "If I seriously consider leaving you will be the first to know"

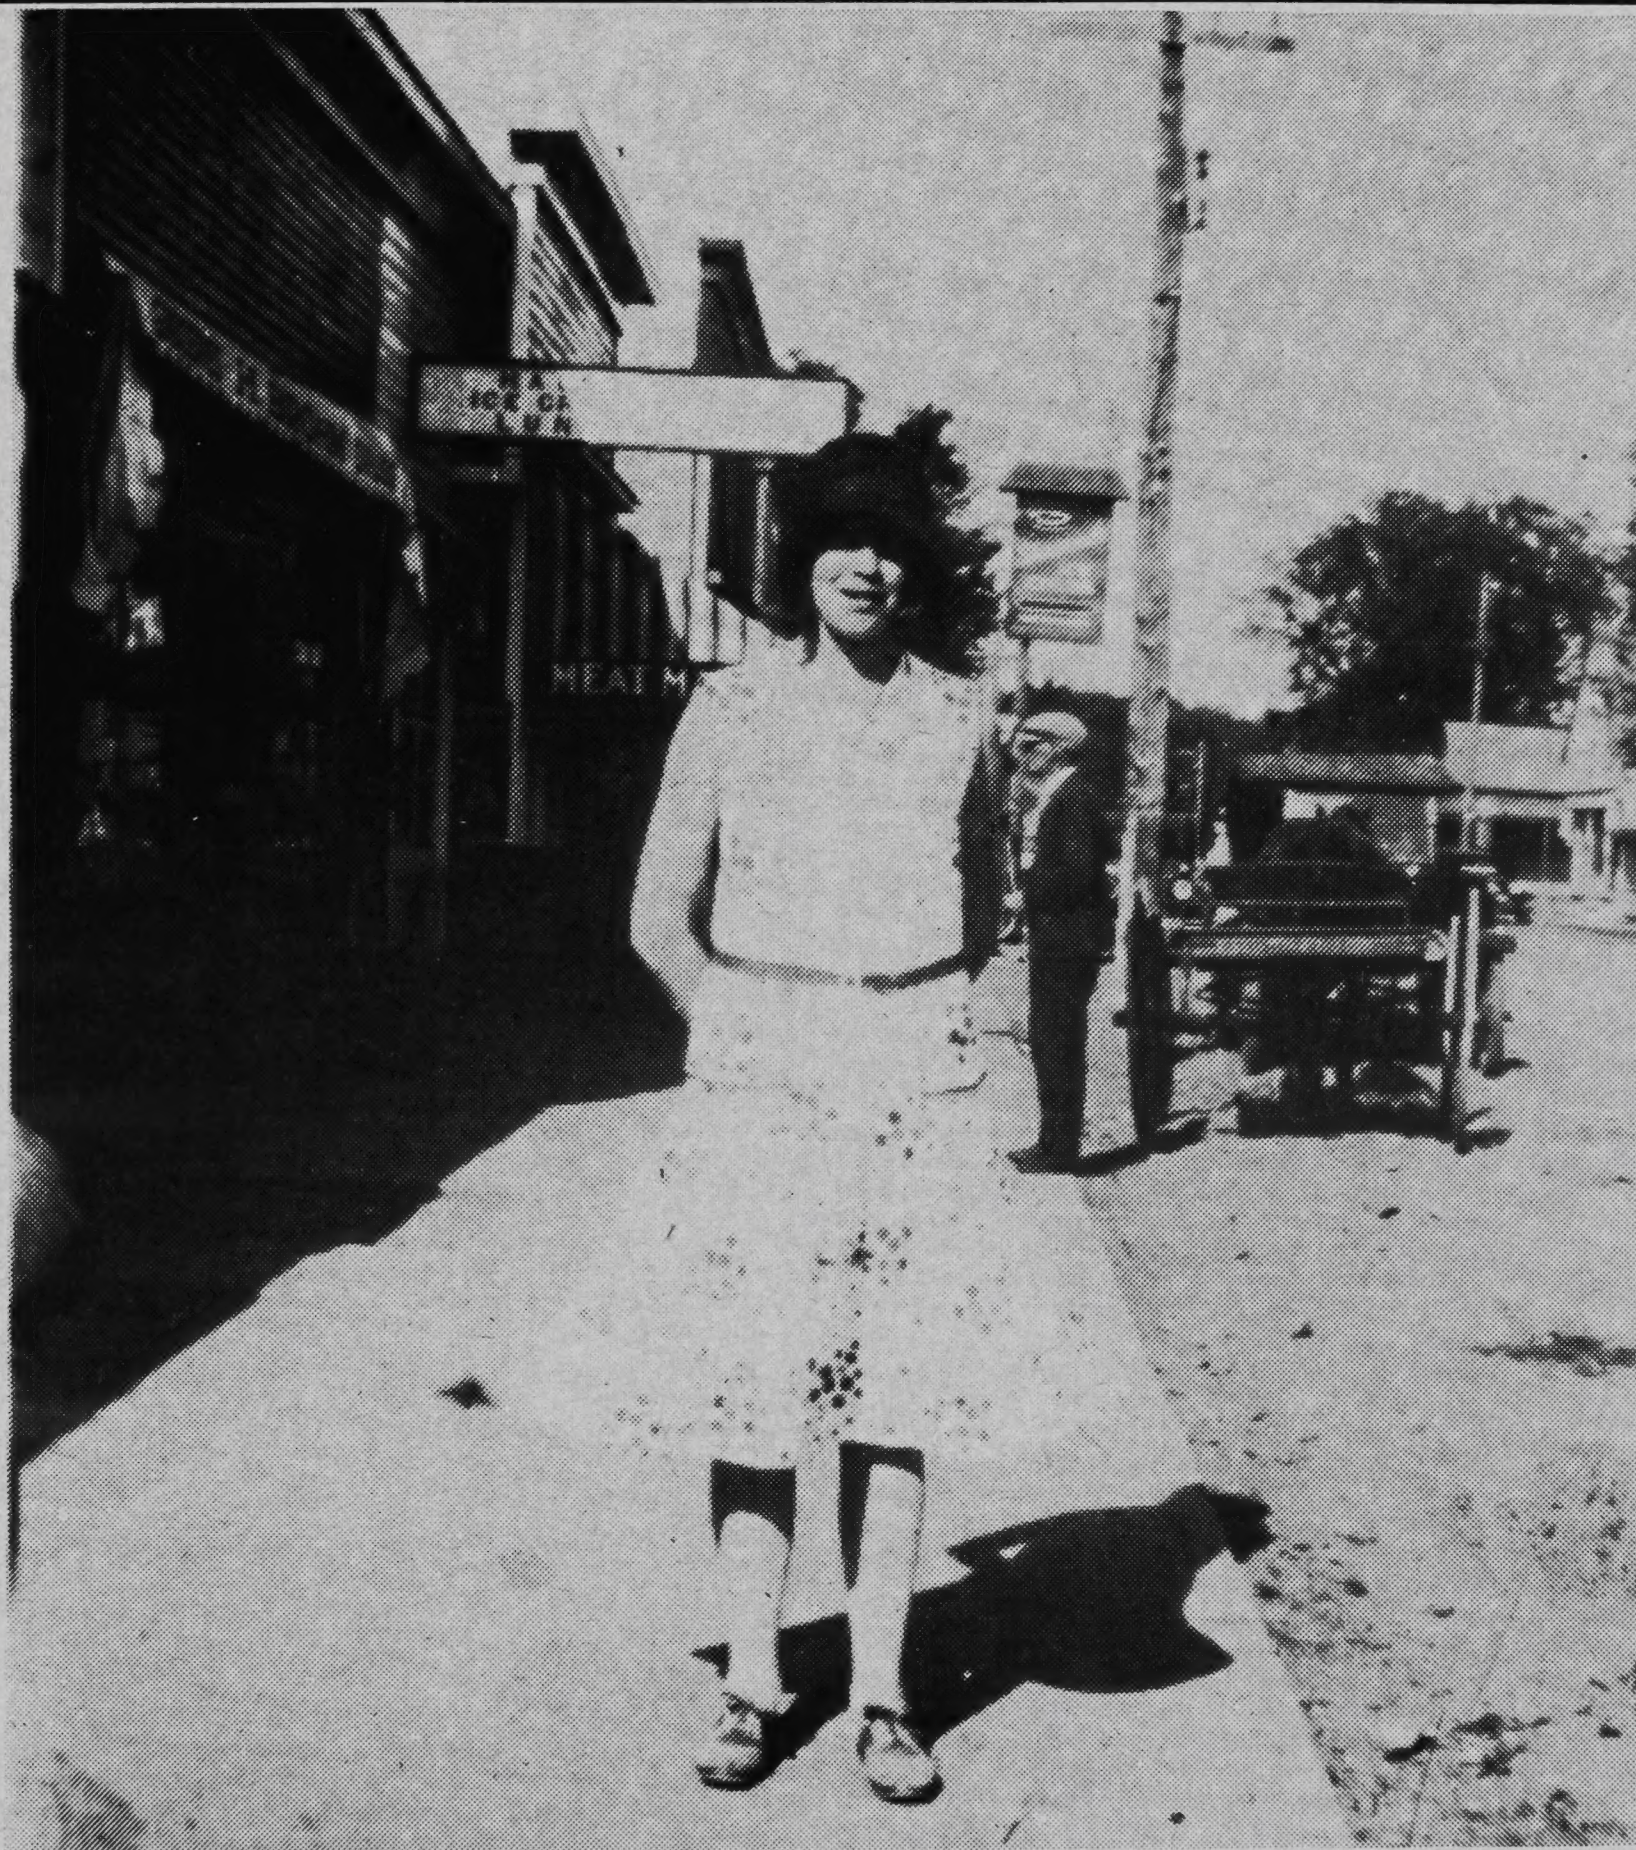

On Friday morning, November 1, Mr. J.E. Hewitt came to show me a letter of resignation delivered to the staff that morning. Mr. Parisotto followed in a few minutes with a copy of a resignation for me dated October 31. This letter stated "I have accepted the offer of the Corp. of the town of Capreol to become its Clerk-Treasurer."

Letters were delivered to the others at once.

This was the first that I received any RESIGNATION.

MY WIFE CALLED ME "DEAR" TODAY

Summer reflections: some good, some bad. First we'll give the good news, then the bad, as the current crud goes. If you don't know what crud means, ask your family doctor. Or somebody else's family doctor, if you don't trust your own.

A family doctor is someone in the family. That means you try to get everything for free. So if he tells you that you have a little headache once in a while, take an aspirin, relax, you know you have a monumental brain tumour.

On the other hand, if you take somebody else's family doctor, beware. He'll probably tell you that you have a possible brain tumour, that you should relax, and take plenty of aspirin.

Well, I hope that takes care of that. I didn't really mean to get onto doctors. Grand chaps, actually.

But I have a lingering resentment against a R.A.F. doctor who insisted on giving me my annual anti-tetanus shot (a dirty great injection in your shoulder) the night of our passing-out party, from a training course on Spitfires.

I told him I had a bad back, a wrenched knee, a toothache, phlebitis, and pneumonia.

He said, "Jolly good", and sank an elephant needle into my shoulder.

I had the satisfaction of seeing him stunned by a coffee cup hurled from behind the piano. It was thrown by our C.O., who, despite the fact that he'd had his pants pulled off and beer poured liberally over his lower torso, was still very much alive.

And a moment later, I had the satisfaction of seeing the C.O. caught right between the eyes by a dinner-plate flung by a New Zealander who said, "Whizzo" when he saw the Commanding officer fall to his knees, trouserless.

This was in the good old days, when it was more or less expected that you'd smash up the mess before you graduated.

It wasn't vandalism, in the modern sense. You had to pay for everything you broke, and you took full responsibility for what you'd done.

It was a wild, free, careening sense of destruction, perhaps based on the sense that you were destructible and were going to be destructed. Perhaps that is what makes young people tick today. If they tick. Some of them don't even seem to be wound up, let alone tick.

As usual, I've gone far from my theme. The good news and then the bad news. It's like a Newfie or Polish joke, both of which I despise.

Good news? It's not raining; the town engineer is not going to cut down 31 maple trees until he tries again next year. My grandbaby is a little devil. One of my students wants to come around and talk. My wife called me "Dear" today. My bursitis is not hurting too much. There's a rose bed in the backyard which hasn't produced a rose in three years, but this summer has a fine touch of green (three baby elms). I don't have a heart condition, though I'm not sure about me liver. The electric storm last night didn't hit my oaks. The plumber gave us a big bag of fresh beans out of his garden.

Bad news? My grandbaby is a devil. He and his mother are living in a dome (no lights, no water, no electricity, no toilet). I left an $8.95 library book out on one of the lawn chairs yesterday and it rained all night. There's a nest of yellowjackets up in the roof and the roofer will quit, after he's taken half the shingles off. Two stings will do it. The boys who are going to do the painting will all have fallen off a ladder and broken their right arms by the time they're ready to go.

My mistress has the mumps. My doctor has a needle. My wife has a tongue. My cat is heterosexual. My daughter is cheerful. My son is cheerful. (This is bad news because it means they are both going to make a touch).

All in all, it's a pretty average summer, so far.

The Argyle Syndicate Ltd.

WHILE HAIR WILL NEED more width and body through curls, waves and good blunt cuts to balance new wider, softer fashions for fall and winter, the natural look is still the important look in hair fashion. Final Net by Clairol, a non-lacquer hair-holding mist, has been especially designed to firmly lock in body and bounce and fight humidity while leaving the hair natural-looking, because it does not leave the stickiness nor stiffness of a standard spray containing lacquer.

WIDER, SOFTER FASHIONS NEED FULLER HAIR STYLES FOR TOP-TO-TOE BALANCE

Hair will do a balancing act for fall and winter.

It will need width, particularly at sides and ends, to complement the new wider, softer fashions for a total look of elegance, says Clairol Canada hair expert, Anne Karpati.

Bias-cut skirts swirl about the legs. Coats expand at hemlines, shoulders and sleeves. Shirts look like the "blouses" of the 50s again, with soft pleats and tucks and bouffant sleeves as well as more width through the body. Dresses for both day and evening have fluid lines that skim rather than hug the figure, flare into A-lines from the hips.

"All this will make for an elegant look if the hair moves in waves at sides and bounces with body at ends to continue the look from top to toe.

"Soft waves and curls are very much in style now. If you prefer the page boy or bob, an excellent blunt cut in which the underhair is cut shorter than the top hair layer also provides the fluid motion and fuller look at the ends. Blunt cuts by good, professional stylists give body and swing to medium and long hair."

Mrs. Karpati adds that the natural look continues to be the leading hair look, regardless of what cut you and your stylist choose.

"Because teasing and backcombing do not provide a natural look, and are hard on hair, we must now achieve width with modern methods of setting and new hair-holding products that lock in extra body while keeping hair natural looking.

"Your hair's best friends will be a setting lotion and clear creme rinse combined in one bottle, to provide manageability while building body, and a non-aerosol, non-lacquer hair holding mist, Clairol's Final Net, which holds in width and bounce and locks out humidity yet does not impart the concrete-like crispness and sticky feeling that's associated with standard hair

'sprays.' It has been designed especially for today's natural look; provides the bonus of fumeless haircare.

"Before you apply the setting lotion creme rinse and the holding mist, know the texture of your hair and what type of setting will provide the most body for your individual type.

"If hair is coarse it will hold curl and width well if you keep it chin-length or just a little longer, in a tapered cut, and use wide, smooth rollers after applying setting lotion creme rinse.

"Fine hair lacks both body and bulk. If it is straight, the good professional blunt cut discussed earlier will bring out some natural curve. Set with small to medium-sized rollers or make pincurls the size of a nickel. Keep this type of hair medium to short, the weight of extra length will make it look thin and flat. If you use electrically-heated rollers, use the small and medium-sized and leave them in until they are completely cool."

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Glenn is 14 and his dearest wish is to have a family. He knows that chances for adoption diminish as a boy gets older but he fervently hopes possible parents will be seeing him now.

Glenn is a slight, handsome lad of French and German ancestry. He has had a number of moves and disappointments in his life, none of them his fault, but they have resulted in his being a bit behind in school. He is an average student in Grade Seven.

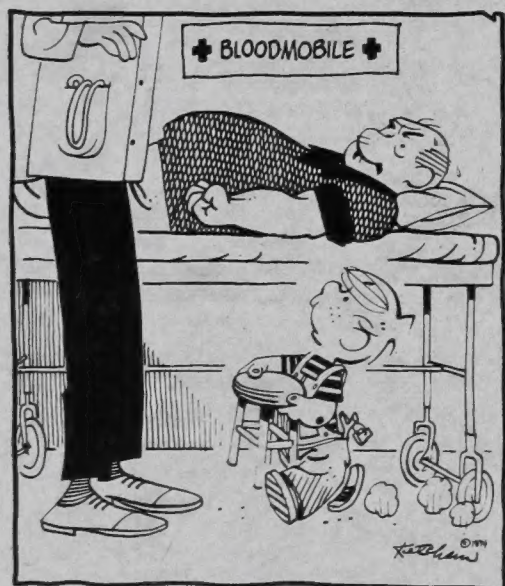

Glenn is likable, affectionate and eager to learn to please others and to be accepted. He loves camping, the outdoors, and is interested in sports — including swimming and bike riding. Glen reads a great deal. He is keen on travelling and loves to talk politics.

This lad needs a family which likes to share activities and where the father will take a special interest in him. He can be either an only child or the youngest. For the right family, Glenn will be a splendid son.

To inquire about adopting Glenn, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. For general adoption information, consult your local Children's Aid Society.

CANADA SAVINGS BONDS

By BRUCE WEST

There's not much question about it, most of us have always found it hard to save a little money. And, in recent years, it has become more difficult than ever — even for those who have been fairly good at it. It's getting so a buck is like an over-ripe orange — the more you squeeze it these days, the less you have left of it.

I think one of the most impressive lectures on savings I ever received was from a thrifty friend who put it this way:

"If a man can somehow manage to end up each month with only a one dollar surplus in the bank, he can feel fairly comfortable and confident. In other words, he has the sensation of standing firmly on his own two feet, even though his bank balance amounts to one paltry dollar after the month's bills have all been paid. But — if he winds up the month just one dollar in debt, then he's standing there back on his heels and will remain there day after day, never being able to quite regain his proper stance in life..."

I hadn't previously thought of a mere one dollar credit or debit in quite those terms. But the more I mulled it over, the more logical it seemed. A one dollar bill did weigh quite a lot when it was applied to one side or the other of the ledger while a man was trying to walk the shaky economic tightrope which so many of us have to tackle these days.

If the habit of saving — even a little bit of saving — is a good thing, it would be hard to think of an easier, safer and more beneficial way of doing it than investing in a Canada Savings Bond. You can buy one for as little as $50, either in cash or in regular payroll deductions. And the annual average interest yield of 9 1/4 percent is certainly quite attractive.

Pay yourself first

Many of us have bought, or are buying, articles of various kinds on the instalment plan. Most of us manage somehow to meet these instalments each month after we've paid off the other expenses of running a household. We are, for the most part, extremely conscientious about meeting these commitments and often we wind up panting at the end of the month wondering how in the world we ever managed to make it.

What we don't do — and certainly should do — is get in there in the line-up of bread men, grocery men, fuel oil men, butchers and the Handy Dandy Finance Company and make sure that we pay ourselves a little bit each month.

The best way to make this rather sensational move is to simply place ourselves in some kind of position in which we are on the receiving end of at least one small instalment a month. We somehow manage to meet the other fellow's demands and shouldn't have any greater difficulty in meeting our own, once we get into the swing of it.

A person can get a little security and peace of mind by signing up for a Canada Savings Bond purchased through regular payroll.

Report from Parliament

By William C Scott, MP

Last Monday marked the 56th anniversary of Armistice Day, 1918, an event that most people of that time thought was the end of not only a Great War, but the end of all wars, for all time. However, it has not worked out that way.

The word armistice means 'a temporary cessation of hostilities', and that is exactly what the 1918 Armistice turned out to be. The past 56 years have seen a succession of wars, large and small, in spite of the efforts of dedicated and well-meaning peace-makers.

Immediately after World War 1, in a world that was tired of human suffering and material devastation, the leaders of the surviving great nations established a League of Nations. This organization was to be a forum for the discussion of international disputes, and the means for settling quarrels among nations without the need for shooting wars.

In the following years we watched helplessly as Japan set out on its conquest of China, and the Islands of the South Pacific. In Europe we saw the rise of Nazism and Fascism, presenting still another threat to world peace, while farther to the East, Russia was spreading its influence through force of arms.

The result of these events was World War 2. This time, though, the war ended with the unconditional surrender of the totalitarian states, and the imposition of strict sanctions against the offending countries. A new World body was established, the United Nations, and this time we saw the establishment of an international organization that had the power to act to prevent the spread of war.

Also, for the first time in modern history, high officials of the aggressor nations, along with others who had been accused of committing atrocities, were tried in an international court as common criminals. Many of those people were found guilty, and were either executed or sentenced to long prison terms. It could be said that this marked a turning point in the traditional attitude towards nations and individuals who deliberately provoke wars.

The United Nations has not been the complete answer to the problems of the world. It has made mistakes, and at times it has been proved to be ineffective in preventing the outbreak of hostilities. However, it is a far better and stronger institution than the League of Nations, and it is a thousand times better than nothing at all.

There is no doubt that the U.N. has prevented many of the small wars in the last 29 years from developing into world conflicts. In addition, through its dozens of committees and commissions, the U.N. has made a serious attempt to relieve the suffering of poor nations throughout the world, conditions that traditionally have been the breeding ground of wars. This work would not have been done if there had not been a U.N., for the simple reason that it would be too big a job, and too expensive, for any country to undertake on its own.

And so, in spite of the fact that nations still attempt to settle disputes by force of arms, and in spite of the fact that we have not solved all of the problems of the world, it is fitting that we continue to honour our veterans on Remembrance Day. Generations of Canadians have answered the call to arms, thousands of them giving up their lives, and many other thousands suffering wounds.

In our observance of Remembrance Day, we not only honour the sacrifices of our veterans, we also serve notice that, even though winning the peace is harder than winning a war, we are not going to give up the fight.

Importance of the forest industry

By: Ross Beagan

Forestry is a relatively new science, having been developed in Germany in the 15th century. Even today, Germany is renowned for outstanding national forests such as the Black Forest. Germany became a world leader in forestry simply because her forests were devastated in a series of European wars. Germany realized that forestry meant strong primary industry, and that this in turn encouraged sturdy secondary industries such as ship building, cabinet making, and building industries necessary to rebuild a war torn country. And certainly, if she was to become a world power, she would have to produce many products for export wholly or partially made of wood.

Canada on the other hand, was richly endowed by nature with untold resources in timber. Except for the fur-trade, forestry and forest products were the biggest single factor in the rise of Canada to the first rank of world powers. Unfortunately, Canada's early forest industries viewed our country's forests as a limitless tract of timber resources. In fact, during Canada's early years, the forests were actually an obstacle to her development. Some, though not all, viewed the forest as an adversary to be conquered to open up vast areas for agriculture. Certainly no person living today can fault them for this attitude, for the frontiers had to be pushed back rapidly from the shores of the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes of Canada to accommodate the thousands of settlers streaming to her shores.

By World War II, however, it became apparent that the forests were not limitless. Something had to be done to preserve them for our future use. It was also realized after the forests were cut, that much of the land beneath was most unsuitable for crops, being shallow and unproductive. About his time the Ontario Forestry Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture began a massive reforestation program to return these marginal farms to forested areas. It was very timely, since the shallow northern soils were beginning to erode rapidly, having lost the forest cover and the anchoring effect of the tree root systems.

Untold millions of trees have been planted in the past forty years by successive provincial government agencies, including the Department of Lands and Forests and its successor the Ministry of Natural Resources. Today, members of the public owning otherwise unsuitable land in excess of two acres, may enter into long term reforestation agreements with the Ministry of Natural Resources. Under these agreements, the land owner pays about one cent per tree planted free of charge by the Ministry. In return the land owner contracts to tend the trees, protect them from fire and pests, and further agrees to be bound by the terms of the contract for a period of fifteen years.

Forestry is very similar to farming. In fact the science is known as Silviculture, meaning the tending of trees. It bears a close similarity to the word agriculture which is the tending of soils. The principal difference between the two sciences is time. The crop cycle in agriculture is chiefly one year or less, whereas in silviculture the crop cycle can be as long as 300 years. Some of the mature white pines we are cutting today were planted by nature in the year 1674.

Today, you and I must plant a tree if someone in the year 2274 is to be as richly endowed in natural resources as you and I are today.

West Guilford news

Mr and Mrs Charlie Barry of West Guilford (RR1, Haliburton) quietly observed their 57th wedding anniversary at their home Thursday, October 31.

Mrs Barry is the former Bertha McKnight and was born in Allsaw, between Minden and Haliburton, Nov. 27th, 1896. Charlie was born on his parents' farm near what is now Green Acres Restaurant at Grass Lake. His father, Mathias, was one of the first settlers in the Haliburton district.

Mr and Mrs Charlie Barry moved to their present farm and settled first in a log cabin which was converted into a barn when they built their home. He and his father took part in numerous log drives on the Gull River and his father was an excellent cornerman during the construction of buildings and bridges; one of his specialties was cribwork.

Charlie is a natural conservationist and even in his 78th year (his birthday is the day after his wedding!) continues to garden in the old-fashioned, organic style, using a horse rather than a tractor for his farm work. Until recent years he and Mrs Barry drove with buggy or sleighs into Haliburton. They both enjoy excellent health and still make a living off the farm.

They still kill their own beef and Charlie remembers when it was sold for only eight cents a pound. He is well known to both summer and year-round residents for the quality and size of his strawberry crop.

They raised four sons, Harold of Hamilton; Earl of Erin, Val, Maple Lake, and Ross (deceased 1960). There are 18 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

The West Guilford Recreation Centre held a euchre on Thursday evening. Six tables were in play. Prizes won were for the most lone hands by Bruce Smith, the last lone hand of the evening was won by Vic Smith, the door prize by Greta Curry. The pink card high by Minnie Stephenson, the pink card low by Peggy Henderson. The white card high by Charles Parish and the white cards low by Dean Stephenson.

A delicious lunch and social hour was enjoyed by all. The next euchre shall be held on November 21.

Anglers catch fish every four hours

During this past summer the fisheries unit was in operation on the lakes for a fourteen week period. The netting, marking and tagging of fish was carried out in Chemung Lake while a creel census crew gathered data from anglers on Chemung, Buckhorn and Pigeon Lakes.

This was the third year of operation in the same general area as part of a co-operative effort with the Ministry of Environment. Natural Resources is investigating fish populations and fishing success while the Ministry of the Environment looks after weed cutting and water quality.

The following is the total number of each species of fish that were caught in the trap nets and released by the netting crew on Chemung Lake from May 21 to August 23, 1974: Pickerel, 5989, Largemouth Bass, 305, Smallmouth Bass, 811, Maskinonge, 59, Pumpkinseeds, 21238, Rockbass, 2333, Perch, 1476, Suckers, 1880, Carp, 286, Bullheads, 2479, Total: 36856.

Painted Turtles, 392, Snapping Turtles, 68, Total 460.

The creel census crew contacted 5983 anglers during the same period. The rate of angler's success expressed in fish per angler hour was .26 on Chemung, .23 on Buckhorn, and .24 on Pigeon Lake, or it took the average angler four hours to catch one fish.

These 5983 anglers fished for a total of 7968 hours and had in their possession a total of 1982 fish composed of 844 pickerel, 751 perch, 212 pumpkinseeds, 64 large and smallmouth bass, 63 bullheads, 37 rockbass and 11 maskinonge.

Day care grants for 15 centres approved

Rene Brunelle, Minister of Community and Social Services, today announced approval of proposed day care grants for 15 centres in Ontario. His announcement was the third in a series of approvals since October 15, when the Ministry commenced approvals in its new $15 million program to extend children's day care facilities throughout the province.

Today's announcement of 15 grants totals $1,515,000 and will provide 472 places for children.

In total, the Ministry has approved $5,545,000 in day care grants to provide 1,655 places for children since October 15. Over 70% of the grants are for the renovation and conversion of existing facilities.

Applications continue to be received by the Ministry from municipalities, Indian Bands and charitable and co-operative organizations.

Municipalities receiving approvals today are the City of Guelph, Town of Mount Forest, City of Thunder Bay, and the regional municipalities of York, Halton and Waterloo.

The charitable corporations announced today include five associations for the mentally retarded - the Sudbury Association, Hamilton and District Association, Windsor Association, Trenton and Brighton Association and Ajax-Pickering and Whitby Association and three other organizations: McMaster Day Care Centre Incorporated, Hamilton; Centretown Parents Day Care Incorporated and Protestant Children's Village, both of Ottawa.

The grant to the Protestant Children's Village, which serves only needy children, will provide a motor van to give support services to 70 children in private-home day care. The grant to the Regional Municipality of Waterloo is for the provision of an integrated facility for normal and retarded preschoolers, to be operated by the municipality with the co-operation of the South Waterloo Association for the Mentally Retarded. The grant to the Windsor Association for the Mentally Retarded will provide a day care centre for both retardates and multiply handicapped children.

Food Sense in Canada- NO NONSENSE

Be a Lamb — But Not About Your Food . . .

Would you be a lamb — just to play follow the leader? "Of course not!", you may reply, and yet you may permit your eating habits to follow a pattern set by the talk-of-the-day.

Conversations over Canadian dinner tables frequently turn to calories. Too often, good foods are rejected solely on the basis of hearsay reports of their reported calorie count. At other times, the estimation of calories is mere guesswork. These presumptions cause some essential foods to be called "high calorie" or "high energy" and to be condemned mistakenly as fattening.

Foods which supply protein, minerals and vitamins are more than mere energy foods, despite their calorie content reminds Joan Fielden, Nutrition Consultant to The Bakery Foods Foundation of Canada. Only foods which are primarily sources of calories (like sugars and some fats) may be classified as "high calorie".

One does not consider milk a high calorie food, even though one glass or eight ounces of milk furnishes 150 calories. About one-fourth of the solids in milk is protein. In addition, milk is an excellent source of calcium and riboflavin. Likewise one should not think of bread as a high calorie food just because one slice or one ounce of enriched white or wholewheat bread furnishes about 75 calories. Bread provides protein as well as the minerals, calcium and iron, and the three B vitamins — thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.

It is revealing to learn that different types of breads vary little, from a calorie point of view. Enriched white, wholewheat, rye and various specialty breads furnish approximately the same number of calories, ounce for ounce.

Daily selection of foods should be made on as functional a basis as are any of the other choices in modern living. This thought applies to those on a normal diet as well as to those concerned with reducing their daily caloric intake.

Gems of Truth

AGREEING AND WALKING WITH GOD

Since God is the source and standard of all truth it remains that we must agree with Him in matters of truth in order to walk with Him. This simply means that we are to think and believe correctly. "The testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple". Psalm 19:7.

Not only are we to believe correctly but if we would agree with God, the way we live is involved. His laws move in the area of conduct and standard for daily living, because as verse 9 says "the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether". It is the business of every child of God to discover from the Scriptures what is the mind of God in matters of faith and practice.

In our day and age of a babble of voices, one must discover what to believe. Our salvation is dependent upon this, because the Lord who gives eternal life, is also the teacher of the truth concerning it and no word of man or his helps to understand the Word is needed. The naked Word of God is the only true source of a genuine walk with God. The question of the prophet of Israel still stands, "can two walk together except they be agreed"? Amos 3:3. God does not have to agree with our theology of life but we must agree with His written Word of instruction for such a walk with Him. We must be in agreement with His Word. There is no other way to walk with Him in intimate relationship of Christian living. To disagree or argue about what is written only proves that we are not at one with God. True children of God who are walking with Him find it delightful company to also walk with other of God's children. Failure to do so only proves we are on different roads like the following incident teaches.

A young Bible student took an old preacher to task for being out of date and ignorant of modern Bible truth. Said he "you still preach on Hades and shock cultured ladies with your barbarous doctrine of Blood. You are so far behind you will never catch up, you're a flat tire stuck in the mud". The old man managed a faint smile, then replied, "did I hear you say 'catch up', why I couldn't catch up if I doubled my speed, I'm not going your way."

News from Halls Lake

The hunters have arrived! We heard the first two loud shots this morning at six. With eight or nine Hunting Camps, plus day hunters, in the area we are likely to hear a lot more.

Mr and Mrs Luther Wilson, who have built a nice new home above Ox Narrows on Hwy. 35, have just returned from a motor trip to visit relatives in Chicago, and glad to be safely back home. They stated that the reduced speed of motor vehicles in the U.S.A. made their driving more pleasant. Immediately they crossed the border back into Canada they noticed the speeding and passing of cars and trucks more than ever. We wonder if our local M.P. could bring pressure to bear on having our speed laws changed, thus cutting down on accidents?

Folks from Hall's Lake attending Carnarvon United Church yesterday reported a sparse congregation and Boskung at St. Stephen's there was the usual small number. The exodus to the sunny south has already begun and one sees signs everywhere of closing up for the season. Thank goodness for the winterized cottages and the hardy folk who come back almost every weekend and spend the School Holiday Break and even Christmas in the area!

Congratulations to Mr. Roy Clarke for winning the H.C.S.A. draw prize of $143.00 recently. The Clarke family have been coming to Hall's Lake from Downsview yearly for several years and have stayed at the Montgomery cottage, but have just purchased the former Jennings' cottage so will be spending more time than ever here at the Lake. Welcome to Mr. & Mrs. Clarke and their family!

Mole last Thursday and had a happy time.

Several members of St. Stephen's Church plan to attend the Induction of the Rev. J Douglas Brown at St. Paul's Church, Minden, this Tuesday evening. Their annual turkey dinner will be served prior to the service. Some of us had planned to attend the Red Cross pot-luck supper and meeting the same night and it seems there are too many functions planned for the same night at this time of the year.

We are pleased to hear that some of our local young people have been the recipients of their Honours Diplomas at the Haliburton High School on Saturday evening. Ken and Dick Stouffer and Roger Hewitt all won this honour and we would like to congratulate them as we know it isn't always easy to attain these high marks! Ken is President of the Student Council and the Stouffer boys take an active interest in the activities of the school, especially in the musical field. A little group including Laurie Kinsman, Penny Harten, Harold Morgan and Dick Stouffer won the Shield for the High School at North Hastings Music Festival recently. The Shield was awarded for the highest marks of the Festival. Congratulations to each of these young folk!

We understand that a very fine musical evening was enjoyed at the Eagle Lake Church a week ago Sunday when Don Nicholson, Laurie Kinsman, Dick Stouffer, and Candice and Ray Johnson supplied the congregation with a fine selection of songs. Several people have remarked on how it added to the Service.

A few friends and relatives held a little Birthday Party for Laura and how well they sang.

Great pre-election scurrying is going on in these parts and it is hoped there will be a good turn-out on November 16 at Club 35 for "Meet the Candidates' Night". It should be a good time to find out who is running and what their aims and beliefs are. With December 2 (Voting Day) not too far in the distance, we expect a lot of interest to be shown in selecting school board members and council members.

The Ladies are holding their weekly Prayer Meetings each Wednesday morning and the Guild meets this Wednesday at Mrs. Wm. Mole's home.

Several ladies from this area are planning to help out at the Centennial Christmas Tea and Sale at Hyland Crest, to be held on Wednesday, November 13 at 2 pm. Donations are being requested for the bake table, candy, home crafts, Treasures of Yesteryear etc. The proceeds are for purchasing extras for the residents and one project in mind is a mobile unit with a hydraulic lift for taking wheel-chair residents for rides or transporting them from the home to other places. We have seen these units in use in other homes and they open up a whole new life for otherwise confined residents. We hope everyone who is free to attend the Tea and Sale will make an effort to be on hand. Afternoon tea at attractive tables will be served all afternoon, and the wives of our two Members of Parliament will be pouring as well as the wife of our President, Mrs. Norman Gilmore and Our Administrator Mrs. Bursey.

Stanhope Firemen are standing by. They received a call at 10 to 1 am. when a furnace in a Mobile Home blew up, the other morning. None of us wishes for a fire but it is comfort to know these men are standing by and getting together each Monday evening at the Fire Hall on the North Shore Road to keep themselves in shape for such an event.

Miss Bonnie Stinson was home from Mount Forest for the weekend and was pleased to meet up with some of her old Haliburton High School friends in Haliburton on Saturday.

Mother nature opens her house

This year's Royal Agricultural Winter Fair is held under the motto "Mother Nature's Open House" which pretty well describes an institution for which Canadians for over half a century have had great affection and respect, not just because it is the biggest annual event of its kind in the world or because of its enormous practical significance to farming, animal breeding and related industries, but because it is a link with Canada's rural past, a meeting place for the farmer and the city dweller and a unique occasion of fun and excitement.

The 1974 "Royal" will be opened by Her Royal Highness The Princess Anne and her husband, Captain Mark Phillips, on Friday, November 15th and will run till November 23rd Sunday included, at the Coliseum in Toronto's Exhibition Park. The Royal Couple will also be visiting the Fair on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Country fairs have a long tradition in most parts of the world where farmers like to get together after the harvest is in - to celebrate, to exchange ideas, to renew friendships. The "Royal", too, is such a get-together, only on a much larger scale: some 17,000 entries from the ten provinces of Canada and from 25 other countries assembled on 27 acres of floor space under one roof.

Traditional though it is, the "Royal" is also very up-to-date and has many new features each year. For instance, this year there will be a daily skating demonstration on artificial ice within the "Royal Flower Show". This, of course, is in addition to the display of 1975 automobiles, the International Salon of Photography, the newest in farm equipment, the posters from all parts of the world and the tropical fish.

In "Food Town Canada" where agricultural marketing boards and associations display meats, dairy and bakery products, fruits and vegetables, this year's emphasis will be on nutrition and economy, with cooking demonstrations, free recipes and many helpful hints to anyone who buys and prepares food.

The cattle section, too, is becoming more international than ever - there will be a larger number of "exotic" breeds of cattle, including France's Charolais and Limousin, Italy's Chianina, others from Switzerland and Australia. Also, ten different livestock auctions will be held in the cattle, sheep and swine sections. The Federal Republic of Germany is setting up a special booth to promote the sale of German breeding cattle in Canada.

As in the "Royals" of the past, the "Royal Horse Show" will be a highlight. It has become one of the World's foremost equestrian events and should be more exciting than ever this year, with the national teams of Canada, France, Great Britain and the United States competing with each other and with individual participants Captain Edward Campion from Ireland and Hendrik Snoek, one of Germany's leading riders. In addition, a top German dressage team will perform each day.

In a few days, many trainloads and trucks carrying animals and farm products will begin to converge on Toronto which, for a few memorable days each year, becomes the "agricultural capital" of Canada.

The Fair is open from 8:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m., daily except Sunday when the doors open at 9:00 a.m. General Admission for adults is $2.00, for students $1.00 and for children under 12, 50 cents.
